COMMITTEE PLANS FOR CENTENNIAL

Jackson County Committee Holds First Meeting to Consider Plans for Next Year's Big Event.

INDIANA 100 YEARS OLD IN 1916

Subcommittees Appointed to Work Out Plans for Township As Well as County Celebration.

A large and enthusiastic representation of the county committee for arranging the celebration of Indiana Centennial next year in Jackson county, was held at the public library this morning. Twenty-one were present at this first meeting, representing eleven of the fifteen townships and incorporations of the county. There was a feeling of enthusiasm that augurs well for the various celebrations that will be planned for next year in the various schools, townships, towns and communities of the county leading up to a big celebration for the entire country to be held next fall.

The committee organized by electing as permanent officers: Prof. T. A. Mott, chairman; D. A. Kochenour, vice chairman; Prof. J. H. Thomas, secretary; R. A. Cox, treasurer.

The chairman made a few opening remarks outlining the general plans that have been indicated by the state committee for the celebration. The general state plan includes the organization of a county committee in every county, township, city and town in every county in the state. It includes also the promotion of public school teaching that will increase the knowledge of Indiana history.

We have, said Prof. Mott, one of the greatest states in the Union. During the last century, from President Madison to President Wilson the United States has made its greatest strides, the greatest in fact of any nation in the history of the world in the same length of time. Yet we know very little of our own state history. This centennial movement will not only do much toward a general celebration of our century of statehood, but it will foster the study of our state to an amazing extent, and will awaken us to the important place Indiana holds in the middle west which has rightly been termed the heart of the Nation.

Four committees were appointed as follows to arrange for various parts of the work connected with the Jackson county celebration:

County celebration, Prof. T. A. Mott, Prof. J. H. Thomas, R. A. Cox, Ernest May, O. M. Foster.

Local celebrations in township and incorporations, L. C. Gillaspay, Mrs. Walter Patrick, J. E. Payne.

County memorial and historical monuments, Henry Aldredge, M. S. Blish, A. Summers.

Historical matter looking toward the organization of a permanent historical society for the county, M. S. Blish, Prof. J. H. Thomas, August Bobb.

The fourth Saturday of each month at the public library building in Seymour at 9:30 a. m. was agreed upon as the time for regular meetings of the general committee.

At the close of the business, several present were called to speak of various phases of the subject as it appears to them.

D. A. Kochenour, of Brownstown, noted the growing interest in the celebration, and felt confident that as the months pass this interest will develop into many local celebrations as well as the general celebration for the whole county. He emphasized as most important of all the educational feature that is possible through the public schools giving attention to Indiana history during the remaining months of the school year.

W. L. Johnson, of Seymour, who has had much experience in large public entertainments, said he recognized in this centennial event one that will appeal to the people as few things have done for years. The patriotic pride of our citizens in our history is a subject that will reach every citizen of the county, as well as the state.

Fred Able, of Seymour, recognized the possibilities of such a celebration from a spectacular point of view. There is a great possibility for the construction of floats representing our history, both state and county, as well as some looking toward the future of our community.

Geo. W. Gunder, of Brownstown, who has been connected with development work on community lines for several years, spoke enthusiastically of the proposed celebration, and urged that Jackson county prepare something unique. All over the state there will probably be many stereotyped forms of celebrations following the suggestions of the state committee, but let Jackson county arrange a celebration that shall be different, one that all the state can come here to see, and find one worthy of the state, as well as worthy of the county, that has shown in the past its ability to do original things.

A. Summers, of Crothersville, urged that the teaching in the public schools be along Indiana historical lines as far as possible. This plan will help to stimulate interest in the more general celebrations as they shall be held later.

Prof. T. A. Mott urged the importance of developing Indiana pride in her own history. He mentioned the lack of Indiana memorials in this state especially when compared with the large number which are everywhere in evidence throughout the southern states. Even in our state house at Indianapolis there is very little to memorialize Indiana history. One of the results of this centennial celebration, undoubtedly, will be to quicken this spirit of pride in our own state, and lead to the encouragement of more substantial recognition of our place in the commonwealth of states.

Prof. J. E. Payne, county superintendent, of Brownstown, stated that the schools of the county are already at work on an outline of study of Indiana history. He is pleased with the outlook for adding to the interest in our own state through this celebration.

The committee then adjourned to meet again the fourth Saturday in January.

Those who were here for the meeting were: Prof. J. H. Thomas, Medora; Prof. J. E. Payne, D. A. Kochenour, George W. Gunder, of Brownstown; Prof. C. R. Jackson, of Cortland; Ernest May and George I. Davis, of Redding township; A. Summers, of Crothersville; O. M. Foster and L. C. Gillaspay of Vernon township; Henry Aldredge, of Driftwood township; J. E. Tanner, of Owen township; Mrs. Walter Patrick, of Jackson township; Fred Able and Jay C. Smith, of Seymour; and O. H. Schaefer representing the Kentucky Photo Film Co.

LOCAL LEADERS AT BIG LOVE FEAST

Two Candidates for Places on Ticket and Other Workers Attend Republican Meeting Today.

HARMONY IS THE KEYNOTE

"Hurrah for the Ticket" Slogan That Strikes Popular Chord With Party Leaders.

Seymour Republicans were well represented at the quadrennial love feast which took place at the Murat Theatre at Indianapolis, this afternoon. Besides the two candidates for places on the state ticket, Judge John M. Lewis for Lieutenant Governor and Judge O. H. Montgomery for the Supreme Court, there were many other Republican workers from the city and county on hand for the big meeting today.

While the local candidates, in common with all other candidates for places on the ticket, were not to be given any time for speech making, yet the opportunity of meeting party leaders and workers from all over the state gave the local men the chance to put in some good work, and in this they were ably supported, not only by local friends, but by their supporters throughout the state. Needless to say, all the candidates were present for the same purpose, and political activities around the hotels and at the Murat were at fever heat.

Among the thousands of Republicans who stormed the capital city today for the big meeting, "harmony" was the all-prevailing keynote, and "Hurrah for the Ticket," and "Everybody for the Ticket," the phrases which were inscribed on the buttonhole cards worn by everyone, seemed to strike the popular chord. While the contest for places on the ticket is spirited, yet it was evident that it was a friendly contest and that when the nominations are made the Republicans of Indiana will all be "shurraing for the ticket."

Interest in the afternoon meeting at the Murat centered in the speech of Edwin P. Morrow, who made such a spectacular race for the governorship of Kentucky, losing to A. O. Stanley by less than 300 votes. Because of Morrow's wonderful race against Stanley, who had the endorsement of President Wilson and all of the Democratic administration heads, he has become a national figure and will doubtless be heard from in the future. Congressman W. E. Humphrey, of Washington, was also on the program for a speech.

Large delegations of Republicans from all parts of the state began arriving in Indianapolis early this morning, and the attendance exceeded even the anticipations of the state committee.

Annual Meeting.

The First Baptist Church will hold its annual meeting next Sunday afternoon at the church when reports of the past year's work by all the organizations of the church will be made, and plans for the new year considered. All members of the church are asked to be present.

EIGHT DEMOCRATS SEEKING ONE JOB

Sheriff's Office is Apparently the Most Popular With Aspirants for County Positions.

TWO ARE OUT FOR AUDITOR

Announcements Enliven Interest in Democratic Political Circles— Primaries in March.

With the announcement of several new candidates there is much interest among Democrats in county politics. The announcements are made earlier than usual this campaign on account of the direct primary law. This requires the candidates to go before the people for the nomination and the aspirants for the several offices in the court house are getting into the field early on the theory that the "early bird catches the worm."

According to the list of announcements the race for sheriff is the most popular. Eight have "tossed their hats into the ring" and it is said that one or two more are considering entrance into the field. Three of the candidates before the primaries for this office live in Brownstown township while three hail from Jackson township. The entrants thus far announced are: Louis Bruning, of Jackson; Samuel Smallwood, of Owen; Knoles K. Mann, of Jackson; C. Meade Beldon, of Brownstown; Sherman Sneed, of Driftwood; Charles F. Edinger, of Brownstown; J. Otis Hays, of Brownstown, and J. T. Abele, of Jackson. Among the Democratic voters there is much speculation as to the outcome of the race.

Albert Leudtke, of Brownstown township, formerly of Carr township, is announced as a candidate for the renomination for second term as county auditor. L. Ed Jennings, of this city, is also a candidate for the same place. An unusual interest is manifested in this race as Jennings has announced that he is making the race on a "one term" platform. He says that he is of the opinion that all four-year officers should be for one term only and asks the support of the voters on this ground. Leudtke, who is now auditor and seeking a second term, points to his record in office and his qualifications after the experience of one term. Both candidates are well known in the county.

Henry H. Ahlberring, of Brownstown, is announced as a candidate for county treasurer. He formerly lived here but has been deputy in the treasurer's office under former Treasurer Henry Price and also under Treasurer John Belding. He believes that because of his familiarity with the duty of the treasurer and his service in that department he will be able to land the nomination. As yet no other aspirant has entered the field against him.

John W. Beickman, of Brownstown township, would like to serve the first county district in the capacity of commissioner and has announced that he will make the race in the coming primaries.

Charles Adams, of Redding township, is a candidate for commissioner before the democratic primaries for the second district. G. R. Schrier,

MRS. WALTER KASTING CLAIMED BY DEATH

Lingering Illness of Tuberculosis Causes Death—Funeral Services Saturday.

Mrs. Lula Kasting, wife of Walter Kasting, died Wednesday evening at her home on South Walnut street, following a lingering illness of tuberculosis. Mrs. Kasting was the daughter of Mrs. Fred Quadde and was born near Brownstown, June 20, 1885. At an early age she was confirmed in the German Lutheran church at Sauers. She was united in marriage to Walter Kasting of this city, August 2, 1911. During her last illness she was patient and kind to those around her and though many times she suffered intensely, she never complained.

When her health would permit she was active in church work and was devoted to its cause. Besides the husband, the mother, Mrs. Fred Quadde, two brothers, William Quadde, of Brownstown, and Henry Quadde, of Blackville, Okla., three sisters, Mrs. Edward Claybaker, of Blackville, Okla., Mrs. Fred Schneider and Mrs. John Stahl, of Vallonia, survive.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence and 2 o'clock at the German Lutheran church. Services conducted in German by Rev. E. H. Eggers. Burial at the Lutheran cemetery.

Friends wishing to view the remains may call at the residence Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and Saturday morning from 9 to 10 o'clock.

John Russell Dead.

John B. Russell died Wednesday, December 29, at the home of his uncle, Henry Schroeder, after an illness of several years with tuberculosis. He was born in Seymour, May 8, 1882, making his age at death 33 years, 7 months and 21 days. His parents are both deceased. Mr. Russell has lived his entire life in Seymour. The funeral services will be held at the residence of Henry Schroeder, 104 High street, Friday morning at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Father Conrad officiating. Burial will be at the Catholic cemetery.

FIRE IN STATEHOUSE DOES SEVERE DAMAGE

Governor's Office Flooded by Water.

Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—Fire caused damage estimated at several thousand dollars to the state house and threatened the destruction of valuable records, but was extinguished before it reached the parts of the building where they were kept.

John W. Ripley, forty-eight years old, 3344 Park avenue, third assistant fire chief, suffered a fracture of the right arm and painful bruises when he fell fifteen feet while fighting the fire. He is at the city hospital.

An accurate estimate of the loss could not be obtained from any of the state officials. Defective electric wiring is held responsible.

The fire started in a small room at the foot of the elevator shaft in the southeast corner of the building directly under Governor Ralston's office. It spread rapidly and climbed to the roof of the building, giving the firemen a three-hour fight.

Adolph Schreiber, assistant law librarian, was the first to discover the fire. He was leaving the building when he was attracted to the elevator shaft by smoke. Peering into the shaft he found that the small room directly back of the shaft in the basement was a roaring furnace. James Anderson, special state house policeman, had been trying to learn the source of the smoke and was close by when Schreiber called to him. He turned in the fire alarm.

While the fire department was on its way Schreiber, Anderson and several other persons tried to put out the blaze with fire extinguishers.

The governor's office on the first floor, board of state charities office on the second floor and state board of accounts office on the third floor suffered heavily from water and smoke. The governor's office was the worst damaged.

FLAMES DAMAGE ELEVATOR

Loss of $5,000, Covered by Insurance, Results at Colfax.

Frankfort, Ind., Dec. 30.—The Colfax elevator, owned by a company of farmers in that neighborhood, was damaged by fire to the extent of about $5,000. It is believed that the flames were of incendiary origin.

When the fire was discovered, it already was under good headway. A general alarm was given, men being called from their homes by telephone to help save the building from total destruction. The loss is covered by insurance.

The elevator was robbed only a few days ago and it was at first thought that a second attempt had been made to blow the safe, the elevator being set on fire to hide traces of the crime.

WINTER HALTS WAR'S PROGRESS

French Report Further Progress In Vosges.

SALONICA IS NOW SAFE

Paris Reports More Trenches Taken From the Germans, and the Capture of 1,700 Prisoners—Allies Expected to Take Offensive in Spring.

London, Dec. 30.—In spite of the most severe weather that has been encountered on the western front since the war began, the French and Germans in the Vosges region are continuing their battle for possession of a line of German trenches.

The Paris official report declares that these trenches have been captured and consolidated, while the official German version declares that the French attacks were repulsed. The French account of the fighting adds that almost 1,700 prisoners have been captured.

By all accounts Salonica is now safe. Certainly, the central powers show no haste to attack the allies' position. Seventy-five thousand Servians have reformed at Scutari and Eloas Jan, in Albania, and the Montenegrin army, which heretofore has been debared geographically from taking any large part in the war, is now throwing itself energetically into the contest against the Austrians.

Reports that the Austrians are attacking the Austrians are authoritatively denied.

Dispatches from both east and west express the belief that the winter weather is likely to prove the most severe obstacle to war operations on the principal fronts during the next few weeks.

Reuter's correspondent at western headquarters, after remarking that the British staff is confident that the allies are now so strong in men and munitions that they can break the German lines whenever the right time comes, declares that the weather is the chief reason for postponing the big movement.

The allied troops would probably have little trouble in occupying the greater part of the German front trenches forthwith, because the enemy holds these likely. But then? With the ranges registered to a nicety from myriads of artillery and machine guns such step would be sheer suicide until the opportunity is ripe.

A Russian correspondent writes: "The most severe part of winter has now begun in the Russian theater."

BARNES WILL APPEAL CASE

Politician Not Satisfied With Libel Verdict Against Roosevelt.

New York, Dec. 30.—Henry F. Wolff, of Ivins, Houghton and Wolff, counsel for William Barnes, corrected any possible misconception as to the meaning of the fixing of costs which Mr. Barnes is to pay as a result of losing his libel suit against Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. It is the intention of Mr. Barnes to appeal from the verdict.

Mr. Wolff said: "The proceedings had in Syracuse were mere formalities consisting of the taxation of costs, the entry of the judgment and of the formal order denying the plaintiff's motion for a new trial. This motion was denied at the conclusion of the trial and the present order does not constitute a new decision, but is the entry of the order made. Up to the present it has been impossible for Mr. Barnes to take an appeal because the judgment and order were not entered. These preliminary steps having been taken, Mr. Barnes's appeal will now be perfected."

REPUBLICAN LOVE FEAST

Large Crowd of Party Workers at Attendant Quadrennial Meet.

Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—A large representation of Republicans were in attendance at the quadrennial Indiana Republican love feast held in this city today.

The meeting opened at 1:30 o'clock at the Murat theater. The speakers were Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, and W. E. Humphrey, representative in congress from Washington state.

Morrow was defeated by A. O. Stanley, a Democrat, for governor, this year. State Chairman Will H. Hayes of Sullivan, presided.

May Include Berlin Also.

Geneva (via Paris), Dec. 30.—The latest information received by the Swiss press from Vienna states that Austrian official circles are opposed to the acceptance of the second American Ancona note unless it is modified and a rupture of diplomatic relations is believed to be imminent. It is claimed that the question more directly concerns Berlin than Vienna, and that a rupture of diplomatic relations would concern Berlin also.

Garage Roof Falls In.

Greencastle, Ind., Dec. 30.—The roof of the Greencastle Garage company collapsed under the weight of snow and ice. The loss is estimated at $3,000. About fifty automobiles were stored in the building and all were damaged. The building is about 60x150 feet in size.

Much depends upon the interpretation that is given to the new primary law which is now before the Indiana supreme court. It is expected that the decision will be given not later than January 7.

Why You Should Use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Because it has an established reputation won by its good works.

Because it is most esteemed by those who have used it for many years, as occasion required, and are best acquainted with its good qualities.

Because it loosens and relieves a cold and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.

Because it does not contain opium or any other narcotic.

Because it is within the reach of all. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

POULTRY RAISERS OF COUNTY PLAN SHOW

Preliminary Plans Being Made For Exhibit to be Held at Brownstown Jan. 25-28.

The corn growers of the county having had their show, now come the poultry men with the announcement of a county poultry show which they plan to hold at Brownstown the latter part of January. County Agent Cobb has received requests from well known farmers and poultry raisers all over the county asking that a show be arranged, and as there is such general interest displayed over the county, it is believed a good exhibit can be arranged.

A meeting of several interested poultry men was held this week with the County Agent and another meeting will be held next Tuesday, when definite arrangements will be made.

January 25th to 28th were the dates decided upon for the show.

James R. Kent was elected chairman of the organization that was effected, Allen Lucas secretary, and Holmes Robertson treasurer.

All interested in poultry are invited to attend the meeting or to confer with Mr. Cobb at any time.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF JACKSON COUNTY

JAMES P. GOODRICH

Your support of James P. Goodrich, of Winchester, for the nomination for governor is urged.

Mr. Goodrich not only is worthy and well qualified, but tried and tested as a leader, both in private and public life.

Many of you know him personally.

All of you know of his long and efficient service to the party as member and chairman of the state committee and as national committeeman from Indiana.

Until now he has not sought honor at the hands of his party.

On account of his long and unselfish service his qualifications have become familiar to all.

As chairman of the state committee he sacrificed every personal and other consideration to the good of the party and state.

As he has given fair play and a SQUARE DEAL to all elements and individuals of the party as state chairman, putting the welfare of his party and state first, so he may be relied on as governor to treat fairly and squarely all elements of the party and of the people and to give their common welfare first consideration.

Faithful and efficient party service alone is not sufficient for an appeal for a nomination for governor.

It is, however, an additional qualification when submitted together with the abundant experience and ability of Mr. Goodrich.

His success as a business man; his knowledge of public problems; his long and intimate contact with men and affairs; his well known public spirit; his close touch with commercial and agricultural conditions through ACTUAL EXPERIENCE; his knowledge of organization; his proven capacity for party leadership; his great industry; his personal qualities and broad-minded common sense—qualify him peculiarly for the governorship at a time when there are important problems to meet and solve, and when it is important that the strongest possible men shall be chosen for leadership.

The friends of Mr. Goodrich are not claiming that he is the only man who can be elected governor; that would be a reflection on their own loyal purpose to support the nominee in case some other candidate should be chosen.

They believe that 1916 will be a Republican year and that the Republican standard-bearer will be elected; but they are anxious that the candidate when elected, shall measure up fully to the requirements of future leadership, in order that we may wage successful campaigns upon our record in state affairs in 1918, 1920 and thereafter.

From every section of Indiana the word is:

"EVERYTHING LOOKS GOOD FOR GOODRICH."

Friends of Mr. Goodrich desire that this county shall be in the front rank of counties supporting the successful candidate for the nomination for governor; hence this appeal for your active support in order that the result may be as decisive as possible.

MR. GOODRICH PLEDGES YOU A CLEAN, BUSINESS-LIKE ADMINISTRATION.

HE PLEDGES HIMSELF TO THE ENACTMENT OF LAWS THAT WILL LOWER AND EQUALIZE TAXATION ON YOUR PROPERTY.

He pledges himself to economy in public expenditures and honest and efficient conduct of all public business in so far as it may be within his power as governor and the party to secure these desirable results.

As a candidate for governor Mr. Goodrich stands for the things he has advocated and exemplified in his private and public career.

His friends submit his record in the discharge of private and public responsibilities as the best guarantee of the character of his administration as governor, which position he seeks as an opportunity for service to the people of the state.

MR. GOODRICH WILL BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED. HIS FRIENDS ASK YOUR CO-OPERATION IN HIS CANDIDACY.

FROM EVERY STANDPOINT JAMES P. GOODRICH IS THE LOGICAL CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

ANNUAL CHARITY BALL.

One of the most brilliant social events of the holiday season was the annual Charity Ball which occurred last evening at Society Hall. The hall was beautifully decorated for the event, the Christmas colors predominating. Excellent music was furnished by the Mitchell trio, of Indianapolis. More than one hundred guests, including members of both the younger and older social sets, enjoyed the evening. The arrangements for the affair, which were in the hands of the young ladies of the Junior Kaffee Klatch, left nothing unprovided for which would have added to the enjoyment of the occasion, and they were the recipients of many congratulations on the success of their undertaking. From the receipts a neat sum remained to be turned over to the charity organization.

NEW YEAR WISH PARTY.

Howard Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ross, entertained the boys of his Sunday School class of the First Baptist church this afternoon at his home on East Second street, with a New Year Wish party. The decorations were of holly and cedar in keeping with the holiday season and the Christmas tree in the center of the table gave a New Year wish and gift to each guest. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and the cream was in individual molds of New Year's bells. The boys spent a delightful afternoon together.

SUPPER AND DANCE.

The annual turkey supper of the Knights and Ladies of Security was given Wednesday evening in their hall and it was a delightful evening. The hall was beautifully decorated in the Christmas colors and potted plants, and covers were laid for thirty-five. Mrs. J. H. EuDaly, Mrs. Leota Abernathy, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Hopple and Mrs. Pearl Steward were the committee on entertainment. After supper the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

AFTERNOON PARTY.

Miss Agnes Andrews entertained a party of her friends Wednesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Andrews, on North Walnut street. After a visit to the movies, numerous games were played and thoroughly enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the table was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. Albert Cordes, of Indianapolis, who has been here the past week has been the honor guest of several social functions. Monday afternoon Mrs. Gus Cordes, Jr. entertained at a pretty afternoon party. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. W. A. Laupus was hostess to her Sewing Club and Wednesday evening Mrs. Gus Cordes entertained for Mrs. Cordes.

APPROACHING WEDDINGS.

Marriage licences were issued today to Mr. Arthur Livesperger and Miss Ida Mabel Kasting, of this city, and to Mr. Earl F. Hetzler, of Dayton, O., and Miss Elizabeth Hoffmann of this city. The weddings will occur during the latter part of the holiday season.

NEWSPAPER MAN TO WED.

L. C. Gifford, editor of the Daily Democrat, left last night for Chicago, where his marriage to Miss Mildred Johnson, a popular young lady of Minneapolis, will occur the latter part of the week. Mr. Gifford will bring his bride to Seymour and they will make this city their home.

ENTERTAINED.

Miss Laura Willman entertained a party of young ladies Wednesday afternoon at her home on South Chestnut street. The afternoon was spent very pleasantly and refreshments were served.

LUNCHEON.

Miss Myra Laupus went to Indianapolis this morning, where she will be a guest at a luncheon given for Glendale College students. The luncheon will be followed by a theater party.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Capital Stock - $100,000
Surplus - 50,000

SEYMORE, IND., Dec. 30, 1915.

TO OUR PATRONS AND FRIENDS:

Since the organization of this bank, over fifty years ago, it has been our constant aim to furnish our customers the very best service possible. Year by year, we have made improvements in our banking system, adding to it and making every use of every facility that this progressive age has brought forth.

Consistent with that aim we have just installed an electrically operated Burroughs Ledger Posting and Bank Statement Machine. This machine is the very last word in up-to-date banking equipment. Besides dating, listing, adding and subtracting deposits and checks, and carrying out the new balance automatically, the Burroughs eliminates a great deal of work ordinarily done by the bookkeeper and does away absolutely with all chances for errors.

It will be a pleasure to show you how this machine works, if you step in at the bank.

Taking this opportunity to thank you for your patronage which has so materially assisted us in building up one of the strongest financial institutions in Southern Indiana, we are,

Yours for better service,

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

EVERY PRICE A NEW PRICE Money Saving Prices in Each Department

To try to tell you in detail about all the choice lots of Holiday Goods and Regular lines now available at a fraction of their regular prices, would take several pages in the newspapers.

Many odd lots are limited, some short lengths, others slightly soiled from display during the Holiday Rush.

Our usual custom of preparing for our Inventory is a big task, and it requires from now until about January 10th, to get our stock ready.

We have no fictitious Hoorah Sales to deceive the Public or ourselves, as our attest for 30 years in this community will not permit us to give such sales, and make false statements. THIS MONEY SAVING EVENT is awaited yearly by hundreds of thrifty women and as usual will prove a pleasant surprise for them.

Prices range from ONE-FOURTH to ONE-HALF less on these sale goods in Dress Goods, Silks, Wash Goods and Domestic Hosiery, Underwear, Notions and Novelty Holiday Goods.

ROBBERS SENT TO PRISON

Plead Guilty of Holding Up Paymaster of Vandalia Coal Mine.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 30.—Henry Davey and William Graham, who were arrested for the robbing of the Vandalia Coal company paymaster at Latatas, in Greene county, Oct. 9, of more than $8,500, pleaded guilty in the circuit court to an indictment charging them with bringing stolen property into the county. They were sentenced to one to fourteen years at the state reformatory at Jeffersonville, fined $10 each and disfranchised for three years.

Efforts have been made on the part of the coal company and its attorneys and detectives to recover the money, but it is understood they have not been able to locate it.

CHILDREN'S HOME BURNS

Thirty-Three Inmates Rescued Without Injury by Matron.

Bethel, Pa., Dec. 30.—The McKean county home at Dogolla, formerly the Beacon Light mission, an institution conducted by the county Children's Aid society, was burned. Mrs. John Stark, the matron, succeeded in getting all the thirty-three children out of the building without injury.

The home was without fire protection. Help summoned from Bradford saved adjoining property. The children were taken care of at homes in the neighborhood.

1,000 SICK IN COLUMBUS

Physicians Say Epidemic Is Most Severe One In Their Experience.

Columbus, Ind., Dec. 30—Physicians estimate that from 1,000 to 1,500 persons in this city have the grip at the present time. They say they never knew the disease to spread as rapidly as it has this winter, and that it has never previously been in so severe a form.

The doctors say more time is required for a complete recovery than they have experienced in previous epidemics. Medicine of nearly all kinds has gone up and it is more expensive to be sick now than formerly. Physicians say that tablets, which formerly cost $1.00 a bottle, now cost $13 a bottle, and the sick man has to pay the difference.

Howard Adams, chief clerk to Superintendent Scheer of the B. & O. S-W., was at his desk today for the first time following an illness that has confined him to his home for several weeks. Mr. Adams has not fully recovered, but he expects to soon be in his usual good health.

H. B. Ross was arrested last night on a charge of intoxication, and in the mayor's court this morning was given the usual $1 and costs. Not having the necessary $11, he will be taken to Brownstown.

WOMAN'S PAGE

New Year's Resolutions For the Home Makers

(Contributed.)

In no department of the woman's sphere is there greater inducement to make New Year's resolutions than in the home. It is in the circle of domestic life that the average woman works, plans and thinks and because her thoughts are centered around the home she discovers hundreds of things that would make the home more attractive. The trouble I have always found is to decide when and how to make such changes. Some of them entail more or less effort yet, many of them would more than repay one for the trouble.

It seems to me that New Year's—the time when nearly every one is making resolution—is a splendid time to institute the changes which the housewife knows would result beneficially. And, why shouldn't there be new resolutions for the home as well as in other circles of activity? If one would just stop and think of the vast number of people that would be helped if only one-half of all the homes would adopt and keep just one pledge each year, it is quite clear that the importance of the movement would be appreciated.

It seems to me that a splendid resolution for 1916 would be for the housewife to make her home more attractive. It is an easy thing to just make the resolution, but it mustn't stop there. A resolution of this kind is worth nothing unless a definite plan is laid out and followed as to how the home can be beautified. Now some housekeepers might feel indignant at such a resolution, especially those who pride themselves on the neatness and appearance of their domiciles, yet, on looking around they will find some spot either in the house or the lawn that is not yet perfect and which will stand improvement, commendable as the present plans may be.

Too many of us housekeepers miss the mark entirely by continually devoting our attention to the "big" things and entirely overlooking the little things. But after all, it is the combination of "little" things about a home that makes it attractive. It may be the way the pictures are hung on the wall, the manner in which the furniture is arranged, the unsightly way in which the kitchen utensils are kept, or possibly the condition of the lawn. Any one of them and a hundred others that might be mentioned might correctly be regarded as insignificant when viewed singly, but when all, or even a small portion of them are combined, the effect is of tremendous importance on the entire home.

One of the best first aids to making any home attractive is the cultivation of a keen observation. Of course, all of us "look around" when we are a visitor in another home, but a surprisingly small number of housewives attempt to make any use of what they have seen. For instance, how many do you suppose, ever compare the arrangement of their own home with that of another which especially appeals to them with the idea of adopting some of the suggestions that were presented to them? To be sure, they make this or that change but do they think of how the change will affect the general appearance of the room when the color of the wall paper, the pictures, the furniture, the rugs or carpets are taken into consideration? At least, this is something to think about.

And there is another important factor in making the home attractive. That is cheerfulness. A home has a personality and a character, the same as an individual. What that character depends in a large measure upon the housewife. It is evident when she entertains either formally or informally. All of us have been in homes where we felt the warmth of friendship as soon as we stepped over the threshold and then we have visited homes where we felt a coolness no matter what the temperature outside might be. Doubtless, the welcome was as warm in one as in the other. The difference was simply the manner of welcome. Entertaining is an art in itself. Ease of manner may be natural, but if it is not it can be acquired. But to all of us it is important in giving the home the personality and character that are desired. Frequently the home character is its most attractive quality.

If our homes lack the very thing that is desired to make them attractive and it is possible for us to supply the missing qualities why not resolve on New Year's Day to devote our attention to them. A simple and valuable resolution might be "Greater Attractiveness, Personality and Character for Our Home." If it is carried out through the entire year its worth will be valued higher in 1917 than it is now.

Behind the many glowing eyes in the peacock's tail feathers, you can but expect a fair maid to make more eyes. Nor is it surprising that she should be much eyed.

Square fans that aren't on the square since they artfully reveal tiny mirrors and even vanity cases with powder puffs on their reverse sides and lip sticks up their handles are bizarre and garishly ultra-modern with futuristic decorations and colorings.

Perhaps the most snareful of all is the one of silver gauze wired in silver to stimulate a spider's web with two crystal drops of dew glistening in its meshes.

Trimmings and Accessories.

Black net gowns are trimmed with jet, sphinx beads and spangles. A jacket effect ends as a girdle front, with sash ends and tiny jacket of net, spangled and beaded in silver and crystal effects, brightening the black part of the toilet.

But they don't open and shut together as much as they used to, for the very newest form of featherfan is as old as the Queen of Sheba and consists of a gorgeous cluster of ostrich plumes poised on a single stick of sawed ivory, amber or tortoise shell.

The most vivid hued ostrich plumes are used and bright purple, yellow, green or blue, they make an effective high light of color for any costume.

The white or black feather fans seem still to cling to the open and shut model with their sticks of tortoise shell or amber usually gold inlaid or gem encrusted.

Ostrich feather fans still open and shut also but they aren't quite on the level either. Instead of forming the orthodox, symmetrical semi-sphere of a fan, they begin stubby and low down on one side and work up gradually to their highest point on the opposite side.

Peacock feather fans are the most fancied of fantastic fans. They come either in the open and shut model or in the one stick effects. The latter are stunning and oriental on long, carved handles of gold inlaid brilliant gown in an electric light Silver tissue cloth, edged with rhinestones, makes a lovely girdle for a white or pink dancing frock.

Edging used as a finishing to draperies, flounces, etc., on net dancing dresses is made of spangles and beads arranged in several rows to form a band, or one narrow row may be worked as a scroll band with a drop effect. Opalescent and blue beads are used for girdles. A beaded girdle is formed from a long cord of these beads with large balls at the ends. They are also used as a drape over a bodice, with the ball ends hanging from the left side.

Fur is frequently accompanied by hand embroidery on cuffs and collars of Angora wool. Buttons of the fabric may be finished with a touch of the collar finish of embroidery, beads or other trimming. The popular trimmings of fur are beaver, krimmer, squirrel, chinchilla, seal, caracul, mole, skunk, broadtail and seal. Bands, buttons and pipings of leather are used on suits. Bands and piped edges of patent leather are used on soft leather coats of black, white, Joffre blue or brown.

Traveling Outfit.

An electric traveling outfit consists of an iron which, when not used for ironing, may be turned upside down in a rack with legs the depth of the handle, and on it one may place a small toaster for bread, or one may use the saucepan which comes with it, in the same shape as the iron and holds a pint of water, for preparing breakfast in one's room.

Concerning the Remaking of Suits

It is a good idea to buy an extra yard or so of the material selected for a tailored suit, in order that the coat or skirt, or both, may be altered and the suit remodeled. Good fabrics outlast styles, and a suit is often regretfully consigned to the discard, not because it is worn but because styles have changed since it was made.

A suit that is required to do more than one season's service without any alteration should be conservative in style. A plain skirt of medium fullness, and a box coat or one of the plain, semifitted models, if well made of good material and fine finish, is never out of the running.

A good model to follow in remaking a suit is shown in the picture given here. The skirt is made with an inverted panel set in at the back and front, and a narrow skirt may be widened by the addition of such panels. Another good plan for widening a narrow skirt is to split it up at each side to the swell of the hip. Here it is trimmed to form a yoke, and an extra piece is set in at each side by shirring or plaiting it to the yoke. The fashion for short skirts help make the way easy in altering them, and borders at the bottom and bands set on are useful for the same purpose.

Coats have been brought up to date this season by the addition of full skirts, set on at the waist line, and by belts and pockets made in the new mode. A collar and cuffs in another fabric help out in the transformation, and buttons supplement these with the smartest of finishing touches.

It is a great satisfaction to convert an old style into a new one. Whether one is compelled to be economical or not a remade suit made of good cloth adds variety to the wardrobe and admits of the exercise of the individual taste in design.

OLD TIME COOKIES.

Old time cookies, which can be highly recommended, come down to us from Mrs. Ogden, the ancestress of some of the famous Ogdens of today. Two and one-half pounds of flour, one and one-fourth pounds of sugar, three-quarters of a pound of butter, one-half pint of milk, one large teaspoonful of soda dissolved in the milk. Use caraway seed if desired.

LEMON PRESERVES.

Soak the rind of the lemon peel in fresh water. The water must be changed every day. Before changing, however, skim the oil from the top of the water and bottle. At the end of two weeks scrape out the white pulp and cook in thick syrup. This should be measured cupful for cupful of syrup and peel.

STUFFED DEVILED EGGS.

Boil a number of eggs until hard. Remove yolks and mash with a few boned sardines and one teaspoonful of butter. Add a little lemon juice, plenty of paprika and fill the whites with this mixture. Place them upright in a pie dish and pour over a cream sauce and buttered crumbs. Bake until crumbs are brown.

BRAN MUFFINS.

One cup wheat bran, one and one-half cups Graham flour, one-third teaspoon salt, three tablespoons molasses into which has been stirred one-half teaspoon baking soda dissolved in one-fourth cup boiling water, one table-spoon melted butter, one cup milk (sweet or sour). Bake thoroughly in twelve portions.

FROSTED APPLES.

Take six large, perfect apples, core and stew until the skin can be removed easily; peel and dip each apple in clarified butter, roll in sugar, then in cocoanut, and fill the hollow left by the core with chopped dates. Place apples in slow oven and let them remain until the sugar sparkles.

BANANA AND PINEAPPLE CUP.

Peel and slice three bananas. Cut up some pieces of pineapple. Put the bananas in a bowl and then the pineapple. Pour some custard on top. Sprinkle with sugar and let stand in a glass dish for a half hour. You can keep the custard separate until you serve if you like.

BAKED INDIAN PUDDING.

This has an old world flavor. Boil one quart of milk. Take one cup of molasses and stir it stiff with Indian meal. Beat one egg, stir it into the boiling milk and bake.

SHRIMP SALAD.

One can of shrimps, two hard-boiled eggs, chopped coarsely and mixed together. Arrange on lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise.

VARIOUS USES CAN BE FOUND FOR ORANGE PEEL

In these days, when oranges are as common as apples and about as cheap, orange peel ceases to be a rarity and becomes an economy. If the peel is to be used, wash the orange well, and cut thin yellow rind, using none of the white peel. This can easily be done with a sharp small knife; then the pulp can be scooped out for salad or dessert and the white fiber thrown away. Another way to get the zest of orange peel is to rub loaf sugar into it.

For flavoring purposes let the orange rind dry thoroughly, then pound in a mortar with one cup of sugar until it can be passed through a fine sieve. Keep it in an airtight jar and it will keep indefinitely. One table-spoonful will flavor a quart of custard. Mandarin orange peel makes an especially delicious flavor.

For candied orange or lemon peel boil the peel in an enameled ware saucenep until it is tender, then in a sirup of sugar and water until it is clear. Let the peel stand in the sirup several hours, then drain and dry; when thoroughly dry keep in a closed jar. The sirup may be used more than once, or it will make the foundation for a pudding sauce or custard. The housewife should use her enameled ware utensils for preparing pints and their bi-products because on those the fruit acids have no harmful effects, as they sometimes have on metal.

Household Hints

If you have covered a pan in which meat is to be roasted never open it to baste the meat. Keep it covered from start to finish. The idea is that the pans are filled with steam, which penetrates the fibers of the meat. If desired to brown the outside leave the cover off for the first half hour in a quick oven.

When boiling haricot beans or dried limas do not put in the salt until they are nearly cooked, otherwise they are apt to split and come out of their skins. They should be brought to the boiling point; that water poured off and fresh boiling water poured over them.

Use white cotton No. 120 for hemming and finishing light colored silks and woolens. It sinks into the fabric and is imperceptible, where the tightly twisted silk thread of sewing silk is visible.

In recipes where whole cloves are required, if the round heads are removed and only the stems used the fruits or vegetables in the mixture will not turn black, as is usually the case.

Orange or Lemon Sirup.

To make orange or lemon sirup pound the thin yellow rind with a little tepid water to a pulp, then add it to the cold sirup, let it infuse for an hour or more, strain and keep in a closed jar or bottle.

Orange essence superior to most commercial products can be made by soaking the peel of twelve oranges in a quart of good alcohol. Use a tightly covered enameled ware receptacle, shake and let it infuse for at least fifteen days before using.

Another way to make candied lemon or orange peel in quantity is to little tepid water to a pulp, then add it to the cold sirup, let it infuse for an hour or more, strain and keep in a closed jar or bottle.

The uses of candied peel are almost endless, and after following the recipe for making a quantity one can easily utilize all such leftovers as they accumulate in the course of a day or two. Cut into shreds a little orange peel adds a delicate flavor to sauces for puddings or for duck. The dried and candied peel is nice to mix with raisins and figs for dessert. It can be used for stuffing figs or dates in combinations with nut meats. A little of either orange or lemon peel is an addition to any sort of stewed fruit. It can be used to add flavor to an otherwise plain cake. It will garnish cookies; it will be nice in baked puddings. It is especially nice in rice pudding with raisins and currants. Mince meat is improved by it. Children like it and it is better for them than candy.

Of course, orange extract is only 25 cents a bottle, but it does not give the flavor that the home-made article does. The peculiarity about homemade extracts, sauces and confections is that one does not tire of them as one does of the commercial article.

Fish Chowder.

Make use of two cupfuls of halibut left over. Add four cupfuls milk and two tablespoonfuls butter. Season with salt and pepper. Let come to a boil, slice in three cold boiled potatoes and one chopped onion. Cook five minutes. This makes a delicious soup.

Miss Laura Willman entertained a company of friends Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Leota Nevin, who is here visiting Mrs. J. F. Tunley, and Miss Edna Smith, who is home from Franklin College. A pleasant afternoon was spent. Light refreshments were served.

Miss Katherine Vosbrink went to Brownstown this morning to spend the day with relatives.

ENGLISH FOND OF CRITICIZING

And John Bull Criticizes Himself Just as Freely and Readily as He Does Any One.

SITUATION FAR FROM ACUTE

English Lack of Imagination, Modesty, or Stupidity, Whichever You Prefer, Held to Blame.

(By Ed L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, December 30.—If John Bull could see himself as others see him he might mend his ways. But being constitutionally unable to apply the reverse English to his eyesight he gives his friends, neighbors and enemies an erroneous notion of his disposition.

Americans recently arrived in England have been astonished to find that this country is not in a state of utter despondency and demoralization. The visitor soon becomes convinced that the stories he has heard and read of internal turmoil, dissension and lack of interest in the successful prosecution of the war have been chiefly made in Germany. He quickly learns that although there has been much grumbling about the management of the war in the last year, a certain amount of industrial unrest and negligible pro-peace sentiment, the great mass of Britons is more determined today than when the war started, to defeat Germany thoroughly.

John has himself to blame for the unfavorable opinion of him that apparently has been growing in the neutral world in the last few months. "What's the matter with England, anyhow?" constantly comes the query from his friends in America. Kipling says it's a "certain God-given lack of imagination which saves us from being over-concerned at the effect of our appearances on others." Others call it modesty; others, stupidity.

The worst failure of the year—the loss of Bulgaria to the Allied cause—might have been prevented by a proper amount of judicious self-advertising applied at the right time where it would have done the most good. But John's dignity couldn't abide the press-agent methods as skilfully employed by Kaiser Wilhelm. Bulgaria frankly put herself up for the highest bidder and the safest guarantee. Germany having a field in the advertising line with no effective counter-measures on the part of the Allies, the Bulgars naturally concluded that the Central Powers were the most likely to be able to deliver the goods. It pays to advertise, not only for recruits but for possible allies.

The Englishman's fondness for grumbling, which he simply can't curb even in war time is another token of his indifference to outside opinion. It is the inalienable privilege of the British soldier to carry a grudge against his officers, as it is the right of the British civilian to denounce the government. But this characteristic doesn't detract one whit from the bravery of the one or the loyalty of the other. It would be a great mistake to regard the recent hot debates in Parliament, the outspoken and at times bitter criticisms of military miscalculations and diplomatic blunders, as evidences of mutiny or even weariness of the struggle.

True, the Englishman has found plenty in the last year to which to apply his traditional prerogative. From the grumblers' point of view it has been a dismal chapter. The Dardanelles disaster, the Gallipoli fiasco, the failure of the Big Push on the Western front in the spring and fall, the German occupation of Poland, the obliteration of Serbia and the British retreat in Mesopotamia, against which the accession of Italy to the Allied cause and her recent brilliant operations on the Isonzo front, the British conquest of German Southwest Africa, the putting out of business of some sixty German submarines in the North Sea and adjacent waters, and the successful invasion of the Baltic by British submarines, make a comparatively meagre offset, in the grumblers' opinion.

After all, Great Britain really owes a good deal to the Whimperers, as Premier Asquith in a moment of petulance recently labeled them. If it hadn't been for these whimperers the country and the war would still be managed by the old one-party cabinet. It was the grumblers who exposed the lack of high explosives and by persistent denunciation of those responsible brought about the creation of the Ministry of Munitions. It is these pestiferous nags who are to be credited with the scorching of the German spy system in England through the wholesale internment of enemy aliens, the reduction of Germany's high-explosive resources by making cotton absolute contraband, and the partial reformation of the censorship whereby at times the veil of secrecy has been lifted from the battlefield.

In fact, the experience of the last year generally has shown the croakers to have been more useful patriots than the cloakers, although in some instances their energies undoubtedly have given a certain amount of aid and comfort to the enemy.

On the threshold of the New Year Britons are extracting considerable satisfaction from the old Napoleonic maxim: "Wars are won, not by the occupation of territory, but by the smashing of armies." With the exception of the one in Serbia, the armies of the Allies are intact. On the Western front Germany has not gained a foot in the last year; on the Eastern front she has acquired considerable geography, but she hasn't smashed the Russian army. Meantime, she has extended her lines to the Balkans, weakening them correspondingly in West and East. Military experts estimate that she has been losing men, killed and seriously wounded, at the rate of 200,000 a month, and they figure that even with the boys of the classes maturing in 1916 and 1917, the only human resources she has yet to draw upon, she will be unable to stand the strain much longer than another year. England and Russia alone, in the meantime, will be able to put nearly 10,000,000 additional men in the field.

In the matter of munitions the Allies at last have the ascendancy. Thanks to the marvelous work of Lloyd George in organizing the war industries of the country, and the effective co-operation of Japan, not to mention the vast and steady stream of supplies from America, the Allies now are prepared to throw two shells at the enemy's one, and the proportion is gradually increasing.

As for money, Germany is manifestly approaching the end of her tether, whereas the resources of the British Empire, the real reserves of the Allies, have barely been tapped. So, if the winning of this war is to depend upon men, munitions and money, Great Britain and her Allies feel that they have small reason to view the outlook pessimistically.

Four Rations Fixed.

Amsterdam, Dec. 30.—A dispatch received here from Budapest says the Official Gazette has published a government order fixing the daily consumption of rye, wheat and barley flour at 240 grammes a head for general population, and at 300 grammes for persons engaged in hard physical labor.

Knew of No Monopoly.

New York, Dec. 30.—Continuing his testimony in the New Haven conspiracy trial, Lewis Cass Ledyard, one of the defendants, stated he never knew of any plan or conspiracy to monopolize commerce of New England before he became a director of the New Haven and never thought of such a thing after he went on the board.

A Lapse of Nine Minutes.

In answer to a correspondent who asks if it is true that the sun never sets on the United States or her possessions, the Scientific American replies that strictly speaking it is not true, for the sun has set nine minutes and eight seconds at the most western point of the Philippines before it has risen at the most eastern point of Maine.

NORMAL SERVICE POSSIBLE FRIDAY

Telephone and Interurban Companies Making Desperate Efforts to Repair Damage by Storm.

CARS RUNNING TO EDINBURG

Telephone Linemen Laying Emergency Cable in Effort to Complete Temporary Circuit.

The Interstate Public Service Co., operating the I. C. & S. Traction Co. and the Seymour Mutual Telephone Co. were still suffering today from the effects of Tuesday night's sleet and storm. Local interurban service was maintained today, but no limited service was attempted. Local officials of the company stated this afternoon that service to Indianapolis would probably be resumed either late this evening or early Friday morning. Service on the I. and L. to Louisville has not been interfered with and the cars are maintaining their regular schedules. Pennsylvania trains ran today on fairly good schedule, the south bound trains being from a half hour to an hour late.

Telephone service to Indianapolis may be possible this evening, according to L. C. Griffiths, of the telephone company. Local linemen worked yesterday and last night until they had the line working as far as Columbus, and today an emergency cable is being laid on the ground, through cornfields and farms, in an effort to complete a circuit and provide temporary service until the poles can be replaced and the wires strung.

From present indications, through telephone and interurban service seems possible tomorrow, although it will be several days before the service will be normal. Apparently the territory between Edinburg and Indianapolis was hardest hit by the storm. At Franklin electric light service was impaired, and the city was in practical darkness last night. Telephone and telegraph poles were down in all parts of the county, and in several places the roads were made impassable by the fallen poles and trees.

In the counties to the west, the snow storm was accompanied by an electrical display and thunder storm of mid summer proportions.

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Sometimes I'm so blue
there's an ache in my throat;
My woe drives me clear to distraction,
And then I sit down and
just placidly wait,
'Cause I know that there
